NO ROUT, NO SEDAN.
[BT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

(DT THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

57. PETERSBURG, Oct. 18, 2:08 p. m.—The issue of the bloody drama below Mukden is still in the balance.
There is no attempt to minimize the severe character of the reverse suffered by Kouropatkin last week, but say there has been nothing absolutely decisive. There certainly is no rout and no Sedan, and the War Office has not yet given up all hope that Kouropatkin may be able to again resume a genuine offensive.

It is asserted here that the tone which the diplomats and newspapers of Tokio assumed in referring to what they seem to look upon as the closing act of the tragedy of Gen. Kourpatlin's army is certainly premature.

Both armies are greatly exhausted and the final issue probably will depend on which can regather itself the quicker. The Russian legions are teribly battered and more or less demoralized, but the splendid manner in which they went forward against Lone Tree Hill Sunday, is evidence that the temper and courage of the troops is hot completely shaken.

The Emperor this morning received Kouropatkin's and Sakharoff's reports

The Emperor this morning received couropatkin's and Sakharoff's reports f the Russian attack on and capture f the village of Shalandtsy, half-way etween Lone Tree Hill and Shakhe, and simultaneously the storming of the former, thereby gaining two positions of the highest importance on the outh bank of the Shakhe River.

TAKING OF LONE TREES

TAKING OF LONE TREE HILL TAKING OF LONE TREE HILL.

The General Staff believes that the storming of Lone Tree Hill for valor and slaughter will occupy a place of tisself in military annals. Kouropatkin, under whose eye the assault was made, rechristened it Poutlioff Hill in honor of the man who led the attack at the head of the Second Brigade of the East Siberian Rifle Division and who was subsequently decorated on the field.

nese division, 14,000 men, with many guns.

The Russian losses were terrible. The fighting on the crest of the hill was altogether with cold siesel. The Russian officers, with swords aloft, lending the scaling column, were literally lifted in the air by the Japanese bayonets, and the Japanese then bayoneted the first of the Russian soldiers who piled in the trenches. All the dead in the trenches were bayoneted, their weapons bearing marks of the dreadful combat.

ems bearing marks of the dreadful combat.

While the War Office holds out hope that Kouropatkin may resume the general offensive, it is privately admitted that the chances are against him unless there is some fortunate development, it being explained that his assumption of the aggressive at Shakhe and along the railroad was vital, as the withdrawal of his left must be made under the shelter of his right. The dispatch of the Associated Press from Mukden, filed early this morning and announcing that the artillery fire continued uncessingly throughout last night, indicates, doubtless, that there would be important developments today. No indication was given, however, of the object of the firing or which side was the aggressor.

Some of the newspapers, notably the Russ, boldly hall the Russian successes at Lone Tree Hill as complete evidence that Kouropatkin will again make a genuine advance along the whole line, printing the announcement in big headlines.

[SY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 18, 2:06 p.m.—An announcement from Washington saying that the administration believes that the time for mediation in the Far Eastern war is approaching has created an unfavorable impression in government circles here, where there is an inclination to associate it with the interview of the Associated Press with a diplomat at Tokio suggesting the propriety of renewing the efforts in behalf of the restoration of peace.

The idea of peace, it is asserted here, could hardly come more inopportunely, with the Japanese in the full flush of victory. It has aroused only resentment and there is no doubt that if the President should actually attempt to open the question at this time he would meet with a rebuff.

An official of the Poreign Office, with whom the correspondent of the Associated Press talked, declined to believe that the United States seriously contemplated tendering her good offices at this time. He could not believe that there could exist at Washington the opinion that such overtures would be entertained unless Japan had directly indicated, a wish to end the struggle. That Japan would be glad to make peace under the present favorable circumstances he did not doubt. Russians Unable to Shake Off Enemy's Advance. Dragnet Raked in Guns, Ammunition and Men. directly indicated a wish to end the struggle. That Japan would be glad to make peace under the present favorable circumstances he did not doubt, but Russia was by no means ready. "All the powers fully understood Russia's position," said he. "It nas been made quite clear. Russia, as the Emperor announced, will make peace direct with Japan. No intervention of an outside power can be tolerated. If Japan desires to end the war she must apply directly through such mediatory as she may choose—the United States, if she prefers—but no representations not coming directly from Tokio would even be answered. If she has any propositions to submit, however, they would, of course, receive the consideration to which they are entitled."

In reply to a suggestion that possibly a personal friend, like Emperor William, might be in a position to approach Emperor Nichelas, the official said he was convinced Emperor William would not tender what he knew would be unacceptable. Emperor William would not tender what he knew would be unacceptable. Emperor William resolved to prosecute it to the bitter end and attain the purpose he announced in his proclamation when Japan began hostilities.

The strategy of she Japanese, apparently, has been entirely successful, and the coöperation of the left, center and right armies has been perfect.

The battle began unexpectedly Sunday night, October 9, by an atsack on a hill five miles morth of Tental, which the Russians had begun to fortify.

The right column of the left army advanced against him on that night and drove the Russians out, after a hand-to-hand encounter. On the same night, the center and left cylumns advanced and took up positions in a fine of villages four miles north of Yental, placing their artillery and preparing for a conflict Monday.

Monday morning, the Japanese began shelling the Russian positions. The Russians answered briskly, and a terrific artillery duel was kept up all day. At night, when it ended, the result was not decisive.

During the night, the Japanese infantry moved within 1500 yards of the Russian lines, taking up a position along a line of villages.

on the subject of contraband of war are making little progress, judging from the correspondence of the Foreign Office with a steamship company trading with the Far East.

The latter, before accepting consignments of locomotives, fishplates, etc. Japanese rallway companies, and raw cotton, for private consignees in Japan, asked the Foreign Office if this class of cargo could safely be accepted. Foreign Secretary Lanadowne made two replies, on October 16 and October 16. He said that the negotiations with Russia, which were still progressing, had resulted thus far in the admission of the principle that rice and provisions were conditionally contraband and, therefore, he could not undertak to say that vessels carrying a cargo o the nature indicated would be immuni-from capture.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.-The Sai Pedro, Los Angeles and Sait Lake Railroad Company has placed an order for fifty-one passenger, freight and switch locomotives with a local firm. The engines will be used on the com-pany's new line between Sait Lake City and Los Angeles.

Thursday morning the Russians occupied a line on a range of hitis extending generally in a southeasterly direction, the north end of the line resting just across the railroad. It is believed that this is the range of hilis formerly occupied by Gen. Kuroki's plain occupied by Gen. Oku.

The battle opened at daylight with heavy artillery on both sides. The Japanese gradually moved forward during the day, swinging their left the Russian right.

army moved to the right and a strong

An amendment to the divorce canon, offered by Rev. Dr. E. A. White of Bloomfield, N. J., went to the Committee on Canons. Dr. White's amendment forbids the re-marriage of divorced persons, and added words to the effect that the canon should not be considered as the expression of an opinion by the church as to the interpretation of the ninth verse of the nineteenth chapter of St. Matthew, nor as pronouncing upon the validity of the remarriage of the innocent party divorced for the cause of adultery. The deputies concurred with the bishops in establishing a foreign missionary diocese in Mexico.

The House of Bishops today nominated the following persons for missionary bishops: Rev. Logan Herbert Roots, formerly of Kansas, for Hankow. China; Rev. Franklin Spencer Spaiding of Erie, Pa., for the district of Salt Lake, and Rev. Ablon Williamson Knight, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., for Cuba.

and between Canada and Mexico. The nouse voted to accept the definition as presented.

The divorce issue came up again, through a resolution read by George Poster Peabody of Brooklyn, who asked for the appointment of a joint commission of four bishops, four circical and four lay delegates to consider the question in all its phases and report to the next General Convention. The resolution empowers the committee to cooperate with other religious bodies.

Peabody thought the recent action was not definite. The matter went to a committee, and a proposal by Rev. Robert B. Nelson of Newport, Ky., to strike out of the prayer book the rule which forbids a clergyman to read the birals service over a suicide, an excommunicated or an unbaptized person, was similarly disposed of.

This brought the house to the consideration of the new canon establishing courts of review.

The effect of this action is to make the regulations of the church more binding and more definite.

During the forenoon several resolutions favoring a stricter canon on marriage and divorce were referred to a committee.

A joint commission, appointed three years ago, presented an extended report recommending that all dioceses and missionary districts be grouped into seven provinces, each province to have authority to legislate on matters which do not conflict with the general convention. Each province is to elast a primate to preside over it. The report will be acted upon later.

The House of Deputies today decided to refer a proposition to elect a negro bishop for the Southern States to the next convention.

The men, through their counsel, have nied a demurrer, and will fight the indictment on the ground that the indictment does not charge any offense of which they are guilty. It is claimed in their defense, that their goods were sold in the, open market, and were not made directly for the government, and, therefore, there was no conspiracy against the government, as charged in the indictment.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

An idea on Underflow.

TOLUCA, Oct. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] From the west line of the Lankershim ranch to the Burbank foothills and from Tropico to the north side of the underflow that the city of Los Angeles takes water from comprises an area of fifty square miles. This underflow has lowered during the past twelve years about thirty feet and is now going down about three *9st every year. Water comes down the Tejunga River after hard storms, making a large, roaring river. Sometimes it is a quarter of a mile wide, three or four feet deep: it runs at a rapid rate, and escapes from the valley.

FROM CRUELTY.

North of the Lankershim much there are thousands of acres of gravel mo e than two hundred feet deep. Here this large amount of storm water, can be detained and caused to go down to the underflow which would raise the underflow in the valley and give the city all the water required.

This immense body of water does not come every year, but when the underflow is raised to where it was twelve years ago, it would last the city many years.

there.
Suppose a large lake was made and this storm water run into it; it would have two hundred feet of gravel to run into, which would change the water in the lake several times during the high-water season and make a large underflow. It may be well to refer this matter to an engineer for investigation.

The Peoples family know almost nothing of the new son-in-law who has thrust himself upon them.

Mrs. Peoples left her daughter there last Friday and returned to Los Angeles. The next day the patient became the bride of the nurse's visitor.

The bride and groom are still in Rediands, where they are preparing to make a legal fight against the annulment of their marriage.

The bride is said to claim that it is her mother and not she who is insane. Mrs. Peoples could not be seen last night, being sick in bed with a physician in attendance.

Her son, John E. Peoples, spoke for REAT APOSTLE INSPIRES HIM.

ELOQUENT LAWYER TALKS OF GREAT ORATOR.

George R. Wendling Delivers His Lecture on "Saul of Tarsue" Before a Great Audience—Present-day Ora-ters Counted on Fingers of One

Simpson Auditorium was filled last night for the first time since the opening of the Imperial Course.

The attraction was the wonderful lecture of Hon. George R. Wendling entitled "Saul of Tarsus," and as a consummate piece of word-painting and as an exaitation of the character of the great apostle it is surpassed by few productions on the present-day platform. It greatly pleased the large audience last night and the orator's flights were in many instances greeted with applause.

For the purposes of his lecture, which extells unstitutedly the sturdiness and good sense of the Hebrew race, Wendling makes his title "Saul of Tarsus," iut the great things in his story are commonly in connection with the apostle. He pictured him as gentle, modest, wise and fautiessly eloquent.

He declared that the great orators tie, modest, wise and fautlessly eloquent.

He declared that the great orators of the pr.sent age could be counted on the fingers of one hand, but Paul, he said, was the greatest orator of all time. In this connection the speaker's analysis of oratory was greatly enjoyed. He addressed many of his sentences to "young men," as sthough addressing a g.uduating class in oratory. "Young men," he said, "oratory does not consist of rhetoric, nor gesture, nor of anythine you get from your elocution teacher, but it consists of a consuming earnestness. The greatest orators of all times have only been eloquent when they have had great themes and then they were filled with a consuming earnestness. No one ever heard Henry Ward Beccher at his best twenty years ago unless he was heart leading with me."

Wendling argued that Paul was a married man because he had too much good sense not to be, but ne also said that Paul's wife had probably died before he was converted on the way to Damascus.

The speaker won a hearty round of replause when he said that there were fore he was converted on the way to Damascus.

The speaker won a hearty round of applause when he said that there were some things he or red much less about than that the cook-stove should be made a gree! success in every school house in the land.

He said that though Paul always melted and humbly, apologized when he in sudden passion fire, hot words at his enemies, it was a great pleasure to read those passages and to feel that he was a brother.

"Any one of Paul's letters," he said, "though it would not make more than a page in an ordinary newspaper, has been the for ndation and inspiration of many volumes." Informal Tea.

RAPED A DUMMY.

An Able Blacksmith from Long Beach Who Carried a Joke Too

"I'm 'er able blacksmith working on the Long Beach pier an' thish is me bruther who's slightly intox'kated," said Frank Campbell last night when a policeman found him hugging a clothing-store dummy to his breast in an alleyway near First and Los An-seles street.

"At Home."

California Council, No. 1647, Royal Arcanum, entertained friends and members with an "at home" at Lindley Hall on Monday evening. An interesting programme was rendered and those taking part were: Miss Virginia Reuter, Mrs. O. B. Crane and M. E. Daniels. Meyer's orchestra furnished music, and later dancing was enjoyed by the young people.

catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harianson, the safest and heat treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Illa., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach without cure, but today I am the happrest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, Catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heart-burn and bloating after meals.

"Ach Louie! It iss," said Goldberg, as he fondly embraced his dummy.

"Aw, gwan; just swiped 'im fer fun (hie) shee?" said Campbell.

At the Police Station Campbell tried his best to convince the desk sergeant that the dummy was only taken as a joke, but the unfeeling sergeant couldn't see it.

Joke, but the unreeling sergeant couldn't see it.

"The joke was carried too far," dryly remarked the sergeant as he ordered the able blacksmith locked up on a charge of petty larceny.

The Hebrew people of Los Angeles are on the eve of beginning a general proposition to colonize the Jews of various European countries in Palestine, as a step towards the establishment of a real Hebrew nation.

one of the national vice-presidents of the Zionist Society and the Jewish Colonial Trust, which has established an immense banking house in London to handle the financial interests of the clothing-store dummy to his breast in an alleyway near First and Los Angeles street.

"Me bruther's sick and can't hold his head up," explained Campbell as he tried to tuck the overcoated form of the under his arm, while the officer used his push-button electric.

"Hey, there! that don't go with me," said the officer. "What are you doing with that dummy?" Caught in the act, Campbell then tried to explain that he only took the dummy for a joke.

Around the corner at No. 115 South Los Angeles street Philip Goldberg, second-hand dealer, was tearing his hair over the loss of one of his best dummies and finest overcoats.

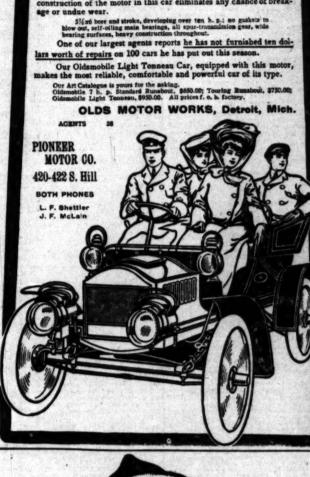

Campbell was marched out of the alley and into the arms of Goldberg, who was bemoaning his loss.

Gold in Okishoms.

A discovery of gold has been made in Devey county, Okishoma, and several samples of the ore has been sent to Lec Angeles for tests by various rocesses. It shows values from $2 to $14 per ton. Dr. Stephen Bowers of this city, who has been connected with the United States Geological Survey and the Jate Mining Bureau for neveral years as geologist in the field, has been engaged to go to the new discoveries and make a thorough geological examination of the d'strict. Dr. Bowers started for Oklahoma yesterday, and lefore his departure he stated that his tests of the ore here had shown that it was sufficiently rich in gold to warrant the expectation of another valuable nineral district being opened. He may the gold is contained largely in fron carbonates, with more or less of fron sulphide, and that it resembles the rich gold deposits of South Dakota, and may prove as valuable.

Typographical Union Has a Bold, Bad Dream.

Hay and His Gang Try to Run Municipal Politics.

Kern Their Man for Mayor. Spending Money.

Greed and gall have proved too much for oaths and obligations, and led by Chief Dictator Fennessy, the Typographical Union as an organization has started in to carry the city election.

"The International has a big sum of money tied up in this campaign, and we must win the election or lose and we must win the election or lose our jobs." is the way the agitators put it when called to account by the workingmen in the union for mixing in a political campaign.

Rendered arrogant by having at their disposal the expenditure of a form

Fennessy was there yesterday when a Times reporter called. Fennessy knew the reporter. He had met him under less; auspicious circumstances. There was a time when Fennessy forsook his accustomed haunts and went into hiding until a Coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death. That was the case of the union printer Vincent, who thrashed Fennessy one-Bunday afternoon in a union meeting and two days later was found lying dead, his body horribly mangled, beside the railroad tracks. "I suppose you want to know what we are up to. Well, we are in this fight with both feet and we expect to deliver the goods."

"This is where we win. There's nothing to it. Yes, you can tell your boss that we are in politics. It isn't the first time. We are going to land our man.

"Fennessy stopped long enough to observe the effect of this braggadocio on a bunch of workingmen standing in line and waiting for an audience. They did nothing except to work for a living; their hands and shoulders showed it, and Fennessy regarded them with the same disdain that a plunger looks on a white chip.

"Then you think Kern is going to win?" weakly ventured one of the timid ones.

"Win!" It came like the explosion of a paper bag. "Why, there's nothing to the fight, nothing to it. Haven't you heard me say that we can deliver the goods. But you fellows look out for that Times man. Don't give up anything."

Dictator Fennessy Presses the Buttons

Angeles will be a Democrat the Typographical Union has picked Ed Kern as its Mayoralty candidate. Now the agitators are trying to enlist all the other unions in the fight to get control of the City Hail.

"Democrats will be Democrats, no matter who the nominee," is the way typos put the situation to the other unions. "Kern's managers will divide their delegates with us. Haif the Kern delegation from each precinct will be union men will ail go to the primaries and vote for the Kern delegates we will be in control of the Democratic convention."

This selection of Kern as the choice of the Typographical Union has almost broken the heart of the union's arch ally, the editor of the Express. That sheet is bound by its owner to support Snyder in return for supposed value received in the refusal to sign a city printing contract. But the Typographical Union would not support Snyder, Kern did not want to go in. It is to his credit that for two months he refused to do the bidding of Dictator Fennessy and the other agitators, preferring to remain a Councilman from the Seventh Ward rather than accept a nomination from such a source. But it was the greed of his own friends that finally led to his downfall. Martin Betkowski wanted to be Councilman from the Seventh Ward. That could not be as long as Kern was a candidate for the office. So Betkowski and his following Joined forces with the Typographical Union agitators and Kern finally yielded.

Now the fight is on and it is too late to back out.

Now the light is on and it is too late to back out.

Some of the Typographical Union agitators were timid about embarking in an enterprise which the bylaws of their union make an offense punishable by expulsion. Not so with Fennessy. His freckled face and surplus g it have carried him through too many escapades for him to hedge at a little thing like perjuring himself and prostituting his union.

So Fennessy was crowned political boss and dictator of the union men in Los Angeles, and all the other agitators took a back seat.

MONEY 18 HERE.

MONEY 18 HERE.

Agitator Hay returned a month ago from the annual meeting of the international union, cautioned by the international to use diplomacy.

The international put up the money. The barrel was filled with tribute levied on the wages of several thousand printers, secured through the sweating process which has rendered the Typographical Union infamous.

But the money is here and Fennessy has been permitted to deive into the barrel up to his elbows. It looked like easy money and the dictator, soon got busy. He passed a few crumbs along to the walking delegates of other unions and, presto! Fennessy rose from the odium of working for a living in the Examiner composing-room to the dignity of a political boss.

Every delegate that accepted a piece. MONEY IS HERE.

Every delegate that accepted a piece of the ili-gotten union money permitted Fennessy to place a coilar about his neck and lead him about on a chain. The dictator had been the collar man so long that he knew just how to do it. Now Fennessy presses the buttons, Hay holds the sack, and the individual members of the union who actually work for a living do the rest.

who actually work for a living do

And the pity of it all is that Hay and Fennessy have during the last four years squandered enough tribute money in Los Angeles to have builded a magnificent hospital for printers, or to have endowed a home for aged members of the craft. Over $100,000 has been worse than squandered by these agitators during that time
"for the good of the cause."

FENNESSY'S THRONE.

FENNESSY'S THRONE. Fennessy has placed a desk in the Building and Trades Council rooms on South Main street and he insists that all who come inside the railing must remove their hats and address him "sir."

THE GUM-SHOE AGITATOR.

A visit to the office of Arthur Hay, the international local representative, came near resulting in a water haul. The office was empty, but the reporter surprised Hay in the act of slinking through an adjacent hallway seeking to escape by the clevator.

Detected, he instantly became very humble. He was sorry that he had not been in his rooms and was glad to meet the reporter.

Was the Typographical Union in politics. Why, certainly not. The bylaws would not permit it. He was extremely pained that The Times should think that he would try to dictate who should be Mayor. Now would the reporter excuse him, he was so busy and he had an appointment with a man standing by the door of the elevator. Hay slipped over to the man in waiting, but suddenly recoiled as though from a blow.

The other man was a Times artist who was industriously drawing a character sketch of the Uriah Heep of the Typographical Unioh.

There were tears in the voice that pleaded with the artist not to do it. "You have a very good picture of me about your shop. Really I do not think it is fair to do it over again. Now be a good fellow and don't do it." "Are not the members of the local union making a fight for Ed Kern?" persisted the reporter, taking advantage of Hay's confusion.

"Wetl, yes," reluctantly, "you see Kern is a good fellow and the boys like him, but not as a union. I hear someone has said we were spending money for Kern. That is a mistake. I

Her limbs were uncovered to the knees, and the stockings had been pulled down over the shoe tops. She was stiff from the cold and was moan-ing inarticulately. Evidently she had been lying on the porch, or elsewhere in the open air, all night. Just below in the open air, all night. Just below her right temple was a triangular contusion; no blood had flowed from this abrusion. The right cheek-bone was scraped of skin. The right eye was blackened. Under the point of the lower jaw was a small bruise. The lower jaw was bruised and swollen, particularly the wrist; the left arm was bruised, as were also the lower limbes above the knees.

They came at once, and other relatives arrived later in the morning. Dr. F. O. FUSENOT GETS THE FUSENOT, proprietor of the Ville de Paris, yesterday closed a contract for a five-year lease of the entire ground floor of the present Homer Laughlin building on Broadway and the big addition thereto that is to be built through to Hill street.

The transaction is one of the largest ever made in this city's retail trade, it having been thought by many that it having been thought by many that nothing short of a Marshall Field's could swing such an extensive propo-sition as Laughlin's, and is proof of the giant strides that have been made in the values of business property in this city within the last few years. Notice was served yestergay on the tenants of the frame-structures on the Hill-street frontage of the Laughlin temporarily to the Bicknell building one block north,

Mr. Fusenot says that he will open the most complete dry goods establishment on the Pacific Coast and that his scheme will include a number of associated lines which will constitute a large department store. "The business methods of the Ville de Paris will in no way be changed," he said. "I will simply enlarge all my lines in everyway. This has been my dream for many years and while we may not be a Marshull Field's to begin with, if I grow as fast as this city is growing it will not be long until we will grow up eight stories. I purpose to devote my attention to the dry goods business, but at the same time arrange for the release of three stores on the Hill-street frontiage, and several department booths inside.

"In the stores on Hill street will be a millinery establishment, a shoe store and a gentneman's haberdasher. No, I cannot give the names of the lesses at present, but arrangements are well under way. It is my purpose to have these stores managed independently, with the exception that the whole place building, is to be irreproculation, and to the smallest detail and will be built to accommodate eight stories. For the present it will be but three floors in height. The Ville de Paris is to be fitted up with a modern cash-carrying device and will contain handsome aldies waiting rooms and have the further attraction of a restaurant and refreshment room, a new feature in the dry goods-business in this city.

A. Fusenot is the French Consul and has been actively engaged in the dry goods-business here for eleven years, the firm formerly being a branch of the "City of Paris" in San Francisco. He began in the business as a clerk in Paris shortly after having served seven months in the Francisco in 1878 and was for ten years the manager of the "City of Paris" and finally sold out his interest to come to Los Angeles.

JOHNSON HAS SHOWN CLASS.

Defeats Martin Decisively in Second Round.

Body Punching Does Trick Most Effectively.

Jack Issues a Challenge to Jeffries-Prelims.

No longer can Champion Jeffries urge ack of class in answer to Johnson's assistant demands for a chance at the insistent demands for a chance at the litie. When burly Black Jack, bigger, stronger, faster than ever before entered the ring flushed with confidence in his own powers, determined to force the pace as his magnificent physique warrants and then, finally, in the second round of last night's brief but bruising encounter hanged home a terrific right. encounter banged home a terrific right smash to the heart and followed it with a tearing left hook aimed fairly, truly to the point of the jaw, six feet six and a half inches of athletic manhood shivered—toppled like a lightning-riven tree and pitched headlong to the canvas-covered foor with a cran't hoof hood shivered—toppled like a lightning-riven tree and pitched headlong to the canvas-covered floor with a crash that told piainer than words every boy in the house that it was time to rise and go—when Jack Johnson demonstrated to everybody's satisfaction that he is a peer in his class and one man in a thousand just as is the mighty Jeffries himself—that minute the champion's last crgument, his final stand against public opinion—melted into childish insignificance even as a snowflake is swallowed in a swollen river. The men who follow sporting matters now with one voice demand that the white king of the ring rise up and say: "Bring on this man that I may see of what mettle he is made." And until Jeffries makes this statement, abandons his untenable position on the color line and sets himself right with the world that loves fair play, Johnson's admirers will be just as incessant in their nagging as the black fellow himself has been.

It was truly a wonderful man last night's spectators beheld in action against Martin. Another Jackson and a greater one than was that bunde of Christian-pugillistic contradictions, the Johnson who last night punched his inveterate enemy into insensibility before eight minuies of the fight had passed was a different man from the cautious, fearsome fellow who tentatively drew his opponent out on their last meeting in this city and after practically winning in a punch let kind Nature and a recuperative constitution minister their offices unhindered. The Johnson who beat down Martin's clever guard; who tore in for the body with uppercuis that lifted the giant's bulk from the floor; whose blows sounded as falling lumber—was a finished artist; a past master of the new school which says not "hit and get away," but "punch and punch again." Nor woud a match between Martin's conqueror and the White King be any Jeffries-Munroe affair. In Johnson, the champion will be seed of a shot and the smash of a pile-driver. THE PRELIMS.

Not often does a fight crowd get such a run for its money in a preliminary as was given last night in the second of the events when Eddle Chambers won a well-earned decision over Johnny Murray after ten rounds of the livedest milling ever seen in a bout of the sort. Both were game and willing; on that point there was but little to choose between them. Murray looked to have considerably the best of the weights, Chambers showed many of the points of a fighter and when he has a little more experience and fills out a bit, boys of his weight are likely to have their hands full with him. He uses haymakers and crazy long swinging uppercuts, but seems to be a good shot with them and lands with rare force and effect. A dozen times he knocked Murray down with haymaking swings to the ear, and Billy Roche's decision was the only possible one. Murray was willing to mix it at any time and the battle was by no means one-sided, though Chambers easily led in point of effective work done. He, too, had his troubles at times; the game was by no means velvet to either. The pair well earned all their money and can be assured of another go at some future date. Their show was very welcome coming as it did in time to take the bad taste of the Solomon-Jacobs business out of the public's mouth. A rumor was prevalent yesterday that these fellows had something cooked up between them; Tom McCarey notified Tom Savage, who refereed, to call the bets off and this Tom did after an extended oration. Such fighting as was done Solomon had the best of, Jacobs forgot himself occasionally and tore in viciously for the belly with unfalling good effect; he might beat Solomon if they fought on the level, Last night at times they behaved like long lost brothers.

CONFLICT WITH POLICE.

CORK, Oct. 18.—[By Atlantic Cable.]
A serious conflict between sympathizers with those who were arrested for participating in the eviction riots on October 12 and the police occurred at the hearing of the case at the Felisport Courthouse today. Over twenty people were injured in the disturbance, some of them seriously. When the Felisport defendants were arraigned the crowds, unable to secure admittance to the courtroom, attacked the police. Over one hundred of the latter formed up to maintain order and charged with their batons, striking right and left and dispersing the crowd.

The judge summoned the officer commanding the police, who said his men had been attacked first. William O'Brien, one of the court attendants who charged excessive brutality on the part of the police, brought in one of the men, who was covered with blood. The magistrate denounced the action of the police, and as a protest adjourned the hearing for six weeks, bailing the defendants until that time.

we are confident that if you thoroughly understood the immediate and practical benefits to be derived from this course of instruction, you would not allow one day to pass without beginning the course.

Attainment of Health, Happiness and Success

Is not governed by chance. It is a science that can be learned. DR.
MIVOR-TYNDALL puts forward the all-important truth that the attainment of the ideals of health of mind and body, and adequate financial returns for our effort, is not a chimera, but an ever-present REALITY when we learn to make them our own.

ruction Easy to Comprehend and Apply:
The instruction is easy of understanding, devoid of mysticism, thoroughly practical and APPLICABLE to every line of effort—business, professional, comestic and social.

Teachers, lawyers physicians, nurses, merchants, mechanics and workers in all fields of the world's work are represented in the immense collection of voluntary testimonials which grateful pupils have sent DR. M'NVOR-TYNDALL in acknowledgment of the great benifit obtained from his instruction. Some few of these from well-known Angeleons are appended.

The course includes seven lessons, each one complete in itself. No home study is necessary; only earnest, intelligent attention to the knowledge imparted in class meetings.

Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays are the regular class days. There are afternoon and evening classes, and a class member desiring to take the course in very short time can do so by taking the two lessons on these days. Should a member desire only one lesson per week, he may do so, as the lessons are repeated in sequence, so that no one need lose a lesson, and may take them up at his convenience. Afternoon classer meet at 2:30. Evening classes meet at 8 o'clock.

basis. The fact that "the great work of passing from a shifting and uncertain currency to one that is fixed and certain," has been accomplished within one year, and with practically no disturbance of business, can not be regarded otherwise than as a remarkable achievement, clearly indicating the soundness of the American system, upon which the Philippine system is based. The opinion is confidently expressed that "the misfortunes that have come to the islands through currency uncertainties are very soon to be no more elements operating against the prosperity of the Philippines." This prediction will certainly be fulfilled if the Republican party remains in power, and the improved conditions will remain while the policy which has brought them into existence continues in operation.

In a letter to the Chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, the Secretary of Pinance and Justice bears further testimony to the willing acceptance of the new currency, and to the completeness with which it has supplanted the old. He says:

"Nearly all of the business houses have by common consent put their business on the basis of the new currency. In all of the provinces it is found in free circulation, and the people now object streamously to taking any other currency. The old currency has been very largely brought into the insular treasury for recoinage, or the Mexican has been exported. What little Mexican there is in the islands is now flowing out, because it has a pretty good market in China, and the abnormal prices that were paid for it for a time in the Philippine Islands have ceased with the special demand for it, and exchange on Hongkong is substantially at par at the present time.

"The whole of the old currency will not be eliminated until our taxing lew be on the street corner shouting, or in sed and the torchlight procession, is found at home, informing himself upon the course of events, the merits of this or that candidate, the principal arguments upon the one side or the other, and upon all the vital factors which enter lite at the compassion.

Farmers and the Tariff.

During the last year of the Wilson tariff, the bill passed by the Democrate during the second Cleveland administration, the imports of agricultural products to this country were in money $400.871.808. In the next year, under the present tariff, the imports fell to $191.4391.766—a decrease of more than $36.000.000. The products of the American farmer did not increase in prices under the Democratic tariff, which would have been some compensation for foreign competition invited by it. On the centrary, they fell to a lower average than had been known since the resumption of specie payments, and the depression was universal. Prices have steadily advanced since the passing of the present tariff law, and the farmer is today getting more for what he has to sell than formany years.

But, say the Democrats, the government is taking money out of people's pockets. Can any farmer say justly that he has missed anything out of his pocket while his interests have been so carefully protected? Do higher prices and an unexampled prosperity rob him? Can he show in any way that he is being squeezed? The savings banks are being overloaded with the spare wages of the tellers. Does this injure the farmer? He has the privilege which he didn't enjoy until tion

With a measure in force like the Wilson bill the money in these banks would soon be depleted, as it was on a former occasion, to meet the current expenses of the depositors.

If the farmer and the wage-earner are robbed so defly that they never feel the loss, and during the process are made the participants in a proaperity so marked and so universal that the entire country feels and springs forward in response, it may be well for them to hold on to what they have rather than listen to the political dreams of statesmen who, when put to the test, fall miserably to give any useful direction to them.—[Baltimore American.

might have been attacked by a man, but I don't believe it now."

WHAT DID SHE MEAN?

Disconnected words, murmured hysterically by the injured woman Friday and Saturday, do not lend support to the son's theory.

Relatives and the attending physician state that on Friday Mrs. Johnson, starting up in her half-coms, cried: "Give me my money back!" then relapsed. Later in the day, and again on Saturday, she murmured hysterically: "He hit!" He hit!" and: "I'm scared—scared!" Again she cried: "He jump!"

Were these words but the half-articulate babblings of a disordered brain, or was the dying woman, speech-bound and thought-dimmed, going over again the awful moments of a struggle in the darkness at her door?

Dr. Armstrong, who attended early Friday morning in the absence of Dr. Yost, said: "I found Mrs. Johnson in a state of great nervousness and only partly conscious. The blood had been undressed and put to bed, before I reached the house. The family related to me the circumstances of her being found, and stated that she was subject to epileptic fits and doubtless had fallen in the night. In the brief time I was at the bedside there was nothing to suggest that I look for another cause of the woman's condition. She did not speak while I was present."

Dr. Yost said: "When I called on

FACE AT THE WINDOW.

Because she was old and aione and was known to keep money in the house, neighbors had suggested to Mrs. Johnson the unwisdom of living as she did. But she was set in her ways as age crept on, and would heed no warning. She persisted in dwelling by herself in the little, one-story house, with its windows the height of a man's shoulders from the ground, and its locks of slight material. Easily she could have afforded to keep a companion in her declining years, but she preferred solitude. She cooked her own meals, and at them alone, save when her son and his wife, or now the one and now the other of her relatives living in the neighborhood, dropped in for a cup of her tea.

One night some time before her hashand died a man came to the Johnson house at midnight and cautiously lifted the window of the bedroom where her son then slept. Then, creeping around to the other side of the house, he slowly raised the sash opposite Mrs. Johnson's bed. Roused by the slight noise, she sprang to the window and distinctly saw his face in the moonlight. He field.

Dr. Yost said: "When I called on Mrs. Johnson about noon Friday I found her in a hysterical condition and in a state of aphasia. She was not fully conscious. She appeared as one who had passed through some great nervous shock and was still in mental distress. I heard the family's statement, and at the time accepted their theory as probably the correct one. I did not examine the toneue to discover whether it had been bitten or otherwise injured. The wounds were those that have been described to you. I did not examine the woman's clothing. "Apparently Mrs. Johnson had been jying in the screen porch or elsewhere exposed to the chill night air, for a number of hours—all night. I should judge. Oct. 18.—G. S. Kunts of the Pacific Electric surveying corps received 1000 voits from the trolley wire this morning, narrowly escaping instant death. The corps was working on the bridge by which the Salt Lake crosses the Pacific electric track at Burnett. Kunts and a companion were standing on a 25-inch shelf on one of the abutments, twenty feet from the ground. Each had hold of an end of a steel sape, but Kuntz was carrying the reel in both hunds. For an instant the tape sagged and touched the trolley wire, and Kuntz took the charge. He stood rigid a few moments, while his face turned livid under the stress of the shock. Then he sank quietly in a heap on the narrow ledge in such a way that he was kept from failing to the ground. He was unconscious when rescued from his perilous position, and was hurried to Long Beach on a passing train. His heart was beating spasmodically, but, after an hour's hard work, Drs. Wood and Hannan restored him to consciousness. Aside from the shock there were some burns on both hands and arms, and the lower part of the back. After some time the victim recovered enough to be taken to the Sisters' Hozpital at Los Angeles.

SPECTACULAR FIRE DENUDES PLACE OF BEAUTY.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 18 .- Fanned by a stiff gale, the fire in the cafion and on the mountain top made rapid progress throughout the day. Early in progress throughout the day. Early in the morning the flames leaped over the range of hills and racing over the mesa, glided down into the cañon, driv-ing everything living before them, and leaving a scene of charred desolation behind. One small slaughter-house added fuel to the blaze, and but for the

the C. H. Wright ranch. The house, barn and 600 tons of hay were consumed. The fire came with such a wide sweep and was fanned by such a brisk breese that it was impossible to fight it with any degree of success.

The scene in Santa Monica Cafion
this evening was exciting. Rabbits, birds and small wild game of all kinds were to be seen and heard on all sides.
They were hurrying in every direction to escape destruction, but many were overtaken and perished. By night the fire had reached the mouth of Santa Monica Cafion and the scene presented by the lurid flames as they climbed the steep banks of the abyss and cast their fickering shadows far out upon the rippling waters of the bay was one never to be forgotten. It is feared much of the romantic beauty of the historic cafion has been marred, if not altogether obliterated. Reckoned in dollars and cents, the damage is not great, but the disfigurement of nature's beauty spot and picnic grounds is to be deplored.

HOME FOR AGED PORESTERS.
During his visit to Santa Monica yesterday Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha of the Independent Order of Foresters encouraged Santa Monicans to hope that this city may be selected as the site for the proposed home for aged Foresters. He says the home will require about 300 acres, as it is going to be a big affair. It is the purpose of the order to make it self-supporting. The membership covers all parts of the world, and the purpose of the executive council is to take up the matter immediately after the detail work in connection with the Orphans' Home for the children of deceased Foresters has been given attention.

clare Mont, Oct. 18.—The Governor this morning addressed the students of Pomona College in the chapel in Holmes's Hall. The Governor opened with a high tribute to the President, not in the spirit of a partisan, but simply to a man who commands the respect, love, and admiration both of his countrymen, and of the entire his countrymen and of the entire world. Mr. Roosevelt's visit to Claremont eighteen months ago was recalled, when the Governor also was present, and several anecdotes of the tour through Southern California were told to illustrate how closely the President placed himself in touch with the humblest members of the community.

The main aubject of the speech was revenue and taxation, which Gov. Pardes recommended to the students for close study. He remarked that California raises annually the large revenue of $6,000,000, and detailed how this money is spent on the State University, asylum, pentientiaries, reform schools, public schools and other objects for the general good. He pointed out that the State pays no less than 46 per cent, of the cost of her public schools, while the average of State aid from all the other States is only 15 per cent, the halance being paid locally. He claimed for California is raised directly, which makes the burden of taxation on a community both onerous and unpopular. New York State was contrasted, where the vast State revenues are raised without a penny of direct taxation, and it was announced that in the coming Legislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California legislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California tegislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California tegislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California tegislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California tegislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California tegislature a move will be his countrymen and of the entire world. Mr. Roosevelt's visit to Clare-tion, and it was announced that in the coming Legislature a move will be made to change the taxation of California to an indirect basis.

The Governor concluded by contrasting Pomona Valley as he saw it for the first time about thirty-five years ago, with its desert characteristics and its scanty hards of cattle and sheep, and the Pomona Valley of today, clothed with orange groves and dotted with happy, prosperous towns that have sprung up everywhere like magic.

A Notable Tribute.

The spectacle of a throng of 50,000 people in the comparatively small city of Worcester, Mass., doing honor to the memory of a United States senator, is a remarkable commentary on the love and admiration that the people of this country extend to those public servants who earn and achieve reputations for irreproachable integrity, unwavering ficelity and exceptional capacity through a long tenure of office. The place that Senator Hoarheld in the hearts of his constituents was never compromised by the fact that he was a politician. His constituents may not have agreed with him in all things, but they never mistrusted his motives and rarely criticised his acts. To them he was a high-minded, anodest, able statesman, whose standard of public service, if generally observed, would make an ideal government. And at the end of this distinguished and useful life there were topular tributes that none but the really worthy earn or receive.—[Kansas City Star.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

Henry Spald, a young man of the town, was arrested this morning for vagrancy and when arraigned before City Recorder Guidinger was sentenced to a term of thirty days in the county Jail. But this is not all. The object of the vagrancy charge was for the sole purpose of holding the young man until such time as the officers see if to call him to answer for a more serious offense. Yesterday evening three young girls of Ocean Park ran away from home for the night. They were sisters, ranging it age from twelve to sixteen years. They ran across Spaid and and at midnight he applied at a Santa Monica lodging-house for quarters for himself and wife and his two nisters. Spaid was alone when he engaged the rooms, and the proprietor of the lodging-house had no reason to suspect that the fellow was telling anything but the truth. He sngaged two communicating rooms, which the landiady says were occupied by the quartert to the rooms and placed the young man unicated her suspicions to Marshal Barretto, who demanded admittance to the rooms and placed the young man unicating rooms to man and at 10 o'clock, her lodgers not yet having left their quarters, she communicating rooms which the suspicions and man arrest. The accused Spaid maintains his innocence, as does also the erring girl, but the circumstances yoint so strongly to their guilt that their denials carry little weight. The parents of the girls say they will do their utmost to punish the guilty if any crime has been committed.

Among them was a fire dance by a band of Navajo Indians. In sharp contrast, was a race between an automobile, driven by Dr. Adama, and a driving team, when and handled by H. C. Lockett. Possibly owing to the limitations of the half-mile track, the team proved faster than the machine.
